

Packard Wholesale was started in 1985 by Verl Packard. It began with a little truck delivering candy, some toilet paper, and a few other items. He and his wife grew the company to a standing warehouse in Moab, Utah. They expanded what they supply to janitorial chemicals to food handling supplies and everything between, servicing businesses from Green River down to Blanding.

In 2011, ownership changed over to sons Travis and Trenton Packard. The warehouse has expanded to 17,000 square feet and they service Emery County down to San Juan County. There is a team of nineteen employees who work hard to keep product ordered, stocked, and delivered. If there is something not coming up in your search of our catalog, contact us because there is a good chance we can find it and get it to you.

Packard Wholesale is proud to support and donate to the local schools and communities of Green River, Moab, Monticello, and Blanding.
